A Winter Day at Frosty Park

Evan and his family decided to spend a snowy winter day at Frosty Park.

They packed hot chocolate, warm blankets, and extra mittens before heading out. After a short drive, they arrived at the park, where snow covered everything in a sparkling white blanket. Evan and his sister, Lily, ran over to a big hill to go sledding.

They zoomed down the hill, laughing as they raced each other to the bottom. After a few runs, they stopped to build a snowman together. They found sticks for his arms, a carrot for his nose, and stones for his eyes. Their snowman stood tall and proud.

When they got cold, Evan's mom poured them each a cup of hot chocolate, and they all sat together, wrapped in blankets, watching snowflakes drift down from the sky. As the sun began to set, they packed up and headed home, feeling happy and tired. Evan thought it was the best winter day he'd ever had.
