

Climate Change

Name:

Date:

Give a check mark to the correct box.

true false

The activity of the sun differs over time, causing fluctuations in how much energy reaches the Earth and contributing to fluctuations in climate.

Climate change is a type of global warming.

Human beings are responsible for climate change.

All scientists agree about climate change and global warming.

An erupting volcano can cause short-term climate change

Climates change slowly over long periods of time.

Global warming is a type of climate change

There have been recurring periods when the Earth's climate became so cold that most of the Earth was covered in ice.

Weather is a pattern of climate that takes place over long periods of time.

The term climate change is interchangeable with the term global warming.